clipper 1970

clayton high school
clayton, new jersey

Linda was the best fence-jumper on the whole street. She could even clear that big white splintered fence in McGregor's back yard. Linda was the oldest kid in the neighborhood. She was already eight years old. Anyway, the rest of us just kind of hung around climbing the ol' fence while we watched Linda jump.

And then we all grew up.
And no one gives much thought to fences.

No one gives much thought to fences until we stop and think what a fence is . . .
a barrier

A barrier between teacher and student. Perhaps due to uninspired teaching, to a failure to continue learning and experiencing after one has gone "to the head of the class." Or a sleeping student who refuses to be challenged because he thinks he knows . . . because he does not think.

A blank wall. An uninterested view of Future by the graduating senior. Maybe inept guidance, but then, maybe, a timid spirit.

Fences. Fences in the form of rationalization. Fences we build in our minds that allow us to ignore the sufferings of others not as fortunate as we. Fences that allow us to see justice in killing. Fences that breed ignorance and hate.

Future
Goals
Ambitions
What could be more to our credit as a Human Being than a broken fence.

special thanks

to one who gives of himself
in a special way

to one man who has reached past a constant barrier to give best what he has best to give

Mending Walls

Something there is that doesn't love a wall,
That sends the frozen ground-swell under it,
And spills the upper boulders in the sun;
And makes gaps even two can pass abreast.
The work of hunters is another thing;
I have come after them and made repair
Where they have left not one stone on stone,
But they would have the rabbit out of hiding,
To please the yelping dogs. The gaps I mean,
No one has seen them made or heard them made,
But at spring mending-time we find them there.
I let my neighbor know beyond the hill;
And on a day we meet to walk the line
And set the wall between us once again.
We keep the wall between us as we go —
To each the boulders that have fallen to each.
And some are loaves and some so nearly balls
We have to use a spell to make them balance:
"Stay where you are until our backs are turned!"
We wear our fingers rough with handling them.
Oh, just another kind of out-door game,
One on a side — it comes to little more.
There where it is we do not need the wall:
He is all pine and I am apple orchard.
My apple trees will never get across
And eat the cones under his pines, I tell him.
He only says, "Good fences make good neighbors."
Spring is the mischief in me, and I wonder
If I could put a notion in his head:
"Why do they make good neighbors? Isn't it
Where there are cows? But here there are no cows.
Before I built a wall I'd ask to know
What I was walling in or walling out,
And to whom I was like to give offence.
Something there is that doesn't love a wall,
That wants it down." I could say "Elves" to him,
But it's not elves exactly, and I'd rather
He said it for himself. I see him there Bringing a stone grasped firmly by the top
In each hand, like an old-stone savage armed.
He moves in darkness as it seems to me,
Not of woods only and the shade of trees.
He will not go behind his father's saying,
And he likes having thought of it so well
He says again, "Good fences make good neighbors."

We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate each and every one in the 1970 graduating class. We sincerely hope your education will not come to a dead end street but will continue on new avenues for a more rewarding life for yourself and the many people you will serve.

Education is one's most important asset and the one which pays the highest dividend. Plan for tomorrow by reinvesting in your education now.

Future Success,
